

The Evergreen State College
Evergreen Student Experience Survey 2008
Responses of Tacoma Campus Students

Diversity at Evergreen

Students were asked a series of questions regarding the importance of diversity to their learning, the amount of respect for diversity, and interactions with people on campus who are different from themselves in terms of backgrounds, perspectives, and lifestyles. In terms of the importance of diversity on campus to learning, the most common response among Tacoma campus respondents was that diversity was "Very" important (54.1%) with "Quite a bit" important being the second most frequent response (26.2%). A total of 14.8% of Tacoma respondents indicated that diversity was "Somewhat" important to their learning and 4.9% indicated that it was "Not at All" or "A Little Bit" important.

The most common response to the question "How much respect do you think there is for different backgrounds, perspectives, and lifestyles on campus?" was "Quite a Bit." A total of 14.7% of the Tacoma campus respondents indicated that there was no or very little respect for differences. Another 27.9% thought that there was some respect for differences, while 57.4% indicated there was "Quite a bit" or "A Lot" of respect on campus. The mean and median were lower on this item than on the question relating to the importance of diversity to learning.
