

End-of-Program Review 2006-07

Social Sciences in Interarea Programs

Did your program include social sciences?

	Extensively	Moderately	A Little	Not at All	Social Sciences Indicated (Extent Missing)	Percent of Programs with any Social Sciences	Number of Programs with any Social Sciences	Number of Programs Responded
Interarea	47.6%	23.8%	14.3%	9.5%	4.8%	91%	19	21
All programs	36.4%	22.0%	17.8%	22.9%	0.8%	77%	91	118

Descriptions of programs on next two pages.

Programs with Social Sciences	Extent	Fields
			Introductory	Intermediate	Advanced
Family Home Futurism	Extensively	Family Studies, Human Development	X
Feminisms: Local to Global	Extensively	Anthropology, Ethnography, Environment, Social Justice + Feminist Movements, Sociology	X	X	X
Forensics and Criminal Behavior	Extensively	Criminal Justice, Sociology, Criminal Behavior.	X
Health and Human Development	Extensively	Psychology, Sociology			X
India: Politics of Dance; Dance of Politics	Extensively	Anthropology, Political Science, Political Economy, Social Justice	X	X
Ireland	Extensively	Anthropology, Politics, Economics		X
Looking Backward: America in the 20th Century	Extensively	Economics, Sociology, Social Justice.	X	X
Pillars of Fire: Jewish Contributions to World Culture	Extensively	Social Justice	X	X	X
Political and Cultural Exchange in the Eastern Mediterranean Landscape: From Bosphorus to Suez	Extensively	Political Science, Political Economy, Urban Studies, Geography		X	X
Political Economy and Social Movements: Race, Gender and Class	Extensively	Economics, Political Economy, Sociology, Geography, Global Studies		X	X
Food	Moderately	Social and economic topics are critical to understanding the food system (production to distribution to consumption). We looked at the social justice of food as well, especially through seminar readings. We specifically looked at the effect of agricultural policy on the food supply, low-cost corn now found in everything. An anthropological and historical perspective provided context through several seminar books.	X

Programs with Social Sciences	Extent	Fields	Introductory	Intermediate	Advanced
Heritage: Self-Identity and Ties to the Land	Moderately	[No explanation provided]	X	X	X
Museums	Moderately	Anthropology	X	X
Restoring Landscapes	Moderately	Political Science, Policy Making, Case Study research	X	X
Searching for Modern China	Moderately	We studied cultural anthropology, political science, and business in relation to Chinese cultural studies.	X
Greece and Italy: An Artistic Literary Odyssey	A Little	Psychology	X
Puppetry and Poetics: The Arts of Distraction	A Little	Phenomenology, Psychology			X
Writing on the Wild Side	A Little	Anthropology	X
Common Knowledge: Information Technology and Human Understanding	Indicated (in other questions) extent unknown	Sociology, Business	[Level not indicated]		