

Washington Law Prohibits Discrimination Based on HIV or Hepatitis C

- In Employment
- In Places of Public Accommodations, Resort or Amusement
- In Many Credit and Insurance Transactions
- In Real Estate Rental, Lease or Sale

HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) and Hepatitis C infections are medical conditions considered a disability under the Washington State Law Against Discrimination, RCW 49.60. Complaints are accepted and processed from:

- Persons who have HIV or Hepatitis C infection
- Persons perceived to have HIV or Hepatitis C infection
- Persons perceived to be particularly susceptible because they're related to or reside with someone with HIV infection or Hepatitis C
- Persons who have tested positive for HIV or Hepatitis C

Any person:

Believing that he or she has been discriminated against in any of the situations mentioned above should contact:

WASHINGTON STATE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION

Headquarters

711 South Capitol Way, Suite 402
P.O. Box 42490
Olympia, WA 98504-2490

Seattle

1511 Third Avenue
Melbourne Tower, Suite 921
Seattle, WA 98101-1626

Spokane

Rock Pointe Plaza III
1330 North Washington Street 2460
Spokane, WA 99201

Yakima

Liberty Building
32 North Third Street, Suite 422
Yakima, WA 98901-2730

1-800-233-3247 VOICE or 1-800-300-7525 TTY

www.hum.wa.gov

Reasonable accommodations in obtaining information and filing complaints will be provided upon request to persons with disabilities.